Founded in 1989 by producer Philippe Dupuis-Mendel, and director Jean-Baptiste Mondino, Bandits has always been dedicated to high quality commercial & music video production, both with French and international directors.

In 2003, Bandits was the most award winning French production company, and ranked 17th on the international listing (Shots Grand Prix 2003).

We offer representation of foreign directors on the French market, with a real desire to develop talents and good long-term relationships with our overseas partners.

We also propose production service in Paris and throughout France. Our aim is to give the same production quality to your projects as we give to our own, with skilled English speaking crews, and the benefits of our negotiating strength. We strive towards friendly and efficient service, value for money, and creating new ties.
