Tim Bullock

While working for the past 8 years in advertising with Saatchi & Saatchi, Bullock's passion for big ideas and film storytelling flourished. He has written and directed three internationally acclaimed and award-winning short films, including the musical comedy, Playin' Hard to Get; the suspense thriller, Late Night Shopper; and the black comedy, Buried. The latter took out the prestigious first prize at Australia's Tropfest Film Festival, the world's largest short film competition.

Bullock is now directing commercials for Clients as Fox Sports, Cricket Australia and Toyota while developing a TV series and a number of feature projects. He has a bent for comedy and a skill for constructing engaging stories through spot-on casting and a sharp eye for detail.
